This Week

This week we began our learning with a look at a one stop animation about a space trip in a rocket. We played this in sections over the week and stopped the video each day at a 'cliff hanger' moment. The children loved this! They used their imaginations to think of all the different things that might happen next in the story. Our friendly aliens also returned, but they have a problem with sharing nicely, so we have had to help them with our knowledge of the High Five Rules. We also continued to work with 2D shapes for our maths, talking about their names and their properties. We invited parents in to teach us some different languages and we also had a well attended FUDGE session.

Next Week

Next week we will be reading the story 'The Dinosaur that Pooped a Planet' by Tom Fletcher. We will be talking about health and self-care, discussing healthy eating, and what that means. We will also be writing some instructions about how to wash our hands properly. In Maths we will be looking at more and less, relating this to food and comparing who has more and who has less? Finally we will look at internet safety and ways to keep safe online.

Language Day and Fudge

Thank you so much to all our helpers for coming in to support the children. We all had a lovely day. The children were very excited to learn new ways to say hello and then read with the big boys!
