Introduction

It is the responsibility of our governing body to decide the following:

- rules around appearance
- whether there should be a school uniform policy and if so, what that should be
- how the uniform should be sourced

These duties are placed upon all governing boards by statute to ensure that this policy promotes good behaviour and discipline amongst the pupil body.

The DfE strongly encourages schools to have a uniform as it can play a key role in:

- promoting the ethos of a school
- providing a sense of belonging and identity
- setting an appropriate tone for education
- safeguarding children in the community.

We strongly support the DfE philosophy that school uniform and dress codes play a valuable role in contributing to the ethos of the school and in setting an appropriate school identity. It is also important to recognise that it should comply with the Human Rights Act 1998 and Equality Act 2010.

The School Uniform and Dress Code can:

- instil a sense of pride
- support positive behaviour and discipline
- encourage identity with, and support for, the school ethos
- ensure pupils of all backgrounds feel welcome
- protect pupils from social pressure to dress in a particular way
- nurture cohesion and promote good relations between different groups of pupils.
